ABOUT BIOSCIENTIFICA

Bioscientifica collaborates with learned societies worldwide to provide high-quality publishing, events and association management to the biomedical community.

We are owned by the Society for Endocrinology, and invest all our profits in our partner societies, helping to advance biomedical education, research and practice.

OUR JOURNALS

Bioscientifica's publishing portfolio includes five subscription journals, and seven open-access titles that are essential reading for both researchers and clinicians.

We only publish the highest-quality research: all of our five subscription titles are ranked in either the top or second quartile of their Journal Citation Reports® categories, and have an average rejection rate of 78%.
